What's happening at Nursery School !

Monday 18th January to Friday 22nd January 2016

As most of you will know Ofsted came to visit the Nursery School on Wednesday 13th January. There was one inspector who was with us all day. We will receive the final report with details of how we got on in about two weeks time so unfortunately until we receive the report we are not able to share the result. We will let you know our outcome as soon as we receive it. Thank you to those of you who spoke to the inspector and who took the time to give feedback on the Parent view website.

Thank you to all the parents and carers who joined us on the visit to see the production of Going on a Bear Hunt at the Town Hall. The children have been doing lots of activities in Nursery school based on the story. They have been going on Bear Hunts and recalling and revisiting the story through role play and small world play. Why not share the story at home or act it out, having fun together. You could also make up another adventure for the family and the bear writing your own ideas down.

Outside and inside the Nursery school there has been lots of interest in ice, frost and snow. While the children are exploring ice and its properties it is helping to develop their vocabulary and language as well as their scientific knowledge about ice.

There have been quite a few new children joining us at Nursery School since the beginning of term. They are getting lots of support and help from the older children who are being really good role models - showing them how to behave and helping them get to know our rules and routines.

Well done everyone!
